

WEATHER FACTS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—Indications for the Ohio Valley and Tennessee—Light local rains, with generally from southeast to south-west, slightly warmer.

SPRINGFIELD,
Jan. 2, 1886.

The world don't want overcoats (half the world at least) bad enough to pay a profit to the maker, but when the same are offered at two-thirds value the world is likely to reconsider. We know you pretty well by this time. We can guess pretty shrewdly what will make you want things slightly out of gear with the present weather.

We are not satisfied to call you in with a flaming painted advertisement chock full of untruths, and giving you things that somebody don't want for the very most you'll pay. When the truth is told we stop the story.

There's nothing we like better than distributing to patrons who have sustained us through the year the profits of a thirty day sale in overcoats.

Here's an example. An overcoat held in some stores at $10.00, in some other stores at $11.00, and so on, is to be got during this great overcoat sale at $6.50, and we have dozens of other styles that cost but little more, more and more up to several times as much as this example.

We have little boys' overcoats as 90 cents, and as high as you think of going; the fit in either is perfect. The materials are better as the price rises; the making is good whatever the price. The price is down on every coat.

The finest of satin lined overcoats for men are to be got for $20.00 instead of 25.00. Not every size in stock.

Reasonably good looking overcoats for young men $2.

We need the stimulus of the lowest possible prices. All the control of prices we have we exercise.

Not only overcoats are going here for the lowest prices we can put on them without demoralizing the trade of the city, but other articles which are out of joint with the time of year.

It's certainly a good time to buy heavy-weight goods.

THE NEW YEAR.

President Cleveland Gave a Grand Reception to the Diplomatic Corps and Their Families.

The Officers of the Army and Navy in Full Uniform Were Received at Noon and the General Public in the Afternoon.

EXCHANGING GREETINGS.

WASHINGTON, January 2.—The new year opened here with bright, beautiful, mild weather. The grand event of the day was the reception at the Executive Mansion.

The President and Mrs. Cleveland were in the mansion from first to last was one of brilliant and grandeur. Its splendor was suggestive of royal display than the tributes of friendship and loyalty of the people.

The controlling influence in the decorations and preparations was the President's wife. She had a vision of the day, and in every detail the great levee should be as perfect as possible.

The foreign representatives were received at the Executive Mansion. The President and Mrs. Cleveland were in the mansion from first to last was one of brilliant and grandeur.

At eleven o'clock the members of the diplomatic corps and their ladies were admitted to the mansion. The President and Mrs. Cleveland were in the mansion from first to last was one of brilliant and grandeur.

THE OLD WORLD.

Band of Revolutionists Attempt to Destroy a Railroad Bridge in the Cordoba Pass.

They Were Discovered in Time to Save a Train—General Walker's New Year's Reception—Foreign Notes.

ATTEMPT TO WRECK A TRAIN.

MADRID, January 2.—The Republicans are becoming troublesome in the south of Spain. A band of revolutionists recently destroyed the railway bridge in the Cordoba Pass of the Sierra Morena Mountains, which separate La Mancha from Andalusia.

Fortunately the wreckers were discovered while they were at work, and five of them were arrested. They had cut through the underpinning of the bridge, and the next train which attempted to cross would have been wrecked if the plot had not been discovered.

As it was, the damage was repaired just in time to save a heavily-loaded passenger train from the north. This train contained a number of southern members of the Cortes who were returning from Madrid. It was supposed that the outrage was attempted with the object of killing those Senators and Deputies, most of whom are Republicans.

At Ciudad Real, a few miles north of the scene of this outrage, a number of persons are said to be imprisoned on suspicion of having been concerned in the plot. The Archbishop of Canterbury has issued a scheme for church reform.
